Sandy Support:
Relief For Pregnant and New Moms

• Mission: In order to help expecting mothers or mothers of newborns who are currently displaced as a result of the hurricane regain confidence and peace of mind, and have a happy, healthy delivery, Birth Day Presence is organizing “Sandy Support: Relief for Pregnant Moms”. As birth doulas, postpartum doulas, and childbirth education specialists, Birth Day Presence staff and network friends are uniquely equipped to provide assistance to expecting mothers including:

  • A resource for guidance and support on childbirth related concerns including ideas for how to lower stress
  • Continuous emotional, physical and informational presence during your labor and birth
  • You may be wondering, "what's a 'doula'?" Doulas provide emotional, informational and physical support to expecting mothers before and through childbirth, and sometimes for a short period after birth.

• How to Participate: If you are an expecting mother or mother of a newborn, that is currently displaced as a result of Hurricane Sandy and would like support, or if you are a doula who is interested in volunteering, please email us at: SandyDoula@birthdaypresence.net.

• Timing of Program: The program will end on February 28, 2013.
